Proto-Indo-European <*smey-> "to laugh, to be glad"
Proto-Indo-European <*sméyeti>
Balto-Slavic
Lithuanian smiêt "to laugh"
Slavic <*smьjàti> "to laugh"
East Slavic
Russian смеяться <smeját'sja> "to laugh, to mock"
South Slavic
Serbo-Croatian смѝјати <smijati> "to laugh"
West Slavic
Polish śmiaćsię "to laugh"
Indo-Iranian
Indo-Aryan
Sanskrit स्मयते <smayate> "to smile, to laugh, to blush"
Sauraseni
Madhya
Hindi स्मित <smit> "smile"
Tocharian
Arshian <smimām> "laughing"
Kushean <smiyām> "to laugh"
Proto-Indo-European <*sméyros> "smiling, happy"
Indo-Iranian
Indo-Aryan
Sanskrit स्मेर <smera> "smiling, proud, happy, friendly, blooming, expanded, manifested"
Italic <*smeiros>
Latin mīrus "wonderful, amazing"
Latin mīror "I marvel at, I admire, I wonder at"
Western Romance
French mirer "to look at"
French miroir "mirror"
English mirror
French mirage "mirage"
English mirage
Italian mirare "to aim, to sight, to point, to admire, to comtemplate"
Spanish mirar "to look, to watch, to face (in a direction)"
Latin admīror "admire"
French admirer "admire"
English admire
Italian ammirare "to admire, to appreciate"
Spanish admirar "to admire, to be amazed"
Latin mīrāculum "object of wonder"
French miracle "miracle"
English miracle
Italian miracolo "miracle, marvel, wonder"
Spanish milagro "miracle"
Latin mīrābilis
Western Romance
French merveille "wonder, marvel"
English marvel
Italian meraviglia "wonder, marvel, astonishment, surprise"
Spanish maravilla "wonder, marvel, sunflower, marigold"
Latin mīrandus
Spanish miranda "looking, a place from which something can be viewed, an outlook"
Spanish Belmonte de Miranda (place name)
Spanish Miranda (habitational surname)
English Miranda warning
English Miranda
Translingual Miranda "Moon of Uranus"
Proto-Indo-European <*smilós> "laugher?, happy person?"
Proto-Indo-European <*smiloyéti?>
Germanic *smīlijanā "to smile"
North Germanic
Old Norse <*smīla>
Danish smile
English smile
Icelandic
Germanic <*smerōnā> "to mock, deride"
West Germanic
Old English smercian "to smirk"
English smirk
Proto-Indo-European <kóm smey-> "smile with, smile at"
Proto-Indo-European <kóm smis>
Italic <*komsmis>
Latin cōmis "courteous, kind, polite, gracious, elegant"
Latin cōmitās "courtesy, kindness, politeness, elegance"
English comity